Be vigilant when driving through Africa: camels are careless when crossing the road, and women carrying waterpots are little more watchful. So warn the authors of this fifth edition of Africa Overland. They also give updated information on each country's political and security situation (Angola, Sierra Leone and Liberia are on the up; since this guide's last edition, security in Western Sudan and Eastern Chad has turned sour); provide an expanded Route Outlines section including information on border crossings; and offer revised recommendations on vehicles including practical coverage on buying a vehicle, maintenance and driving. 'This is the ultimate roadies' guide to traversing the wilderness of Africa. An indispensable guide to negotiating the uncharted perils of Africa's vast plains.' Daily Express (UK) The House That Jack Built is the life story of Hal Jackson, one of the most important figures in American radio and television. When starting out as a young professional, during the Jim Crow era in Washington, D.C., Jackson was told by the management of WINX that no Black man would ever broadcast at their station. He ultimately proved them wrong and was given a time slot of the station -- thus beginning a long and illustrious career, filled with an extraordinary series of firsts: The first Black radio announcer on network radio. The first Black inducted in the Radio Hall of Fame. The first Black host of a jazz show on the ABC network. The first Black to do play-by-play sports announcing on radio. The first Black to host an interracial network show on NBC-TV. The first person to broadcast from a theater live. He organized and was one of the owners of the first Black team to win the World's Basketball Championship. The first Black host of an international network television presentation. He was instrumental in acquiring the first radio station owned and operated by Blacks in New York City. At a time when Black women were prohibited from entering beauty pageants, he founded Hal Jackson's Talented Teen International contest. Here is a remarkable story about a remarkable person. The House That Jack Built is an important addition to the history of media in the United States. In two brilliant novellas, master storyteller Paul Zacharia offers contrasting shades of life. While on the one hand he talks about the unpredictability of life and how it silently usurps a placid existence, on the other, he delves into the depths of an analytical mind that tries to rationalize the most morbid of murders of civilization. Recipient of the Sahitya Akademi Award and Katha Award for Creative Fiction, Paul Zacharia is one of the best known writers in Malayalam today. Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world.
